A Guide for Coming to Campus

Face masks are optional. Universal masking is no longer required on the Danforth campus. People may choose to wear masks for a variety of reasons. Please be understanding of other people’s masking preferences, and wear a mask if requested.

Self-screens are optional. Faculty, staff and students should visit screening.wustl.edu. Visitors and contractors should use a different screening tool, available here.

Wash or sanitize your hands regularly and practice good hygiene. Wash your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds. If a sink is not available, use hand sanitizer with greater than 60% ethanol or 70% isopropyl alcohol. Avoid touching your face; disinfect highly touched surfaces frequently.

Spring 2022 Campus Plan Updates

On Thursday, 3/3, the Office of the Chancellor sent an email to the Danforth campus with updates to the spring plan. Effective March 14:

- Masking and screening are optional for all Danforth Campus spaces. Please be respectful of colleagues who choose to mask and wear a mask if asked in enclosed spaces.
- In-person social gatherings are allowed. Events are on hold at the Brown School, but meetings for students, faculty, staff and community members can occur.
- Visitors should continue to screen and attest to their vaccination status at visitorscreening.wustl.edu.
- Stay home if you are sick. Call the COVID Call Center at 314-362-5056 for guidance and to schedule a free test.
- Food and drink are allowed in communal spaces. Remember to clean up after yourself, including microwaves.

Please check the Spring 2022 FAQ page of the WashU Together: COVID-19 Response site for university updates.

The protocols apply to all students, faculty and staff members at the Brown School. They represent a unique opportunity to demonstrate our shared professional values and ethics and our engaged and caring community.

This FAQ has information covering four general topic areas:

Arriving on Campus and Entering Buildings
Working On-Site
Resources and Facility Use
Practicum and Courses

Arriving on Campus and Entering Buildings

Q: Do I need my ID to access buildings?
A: You no longer need to swipe into our buildings during regular hours of operation. If you lost your ID, please go to Card Services at the Women’s Building to get a replacement.

Q: What about parking? Will we be paying hourly or have to buy a new permit?
A: Normal parking operations have resumed. Please go to the Parking & Transportation page for more information about parking permits.

Working On-Site

Q: Do I have to be physically at work on campus?
A: We have worked toward being more fully on-campus for the past year. We will continue to be guided by the science in this area. Managers and supervisors are encouraged to work with their teams to resolve any issues.

Q: How should we approach situations in which individuals have significant barriers for returning to campus?
A: Please see HR’s flexible work arrangement policy. You should consult with your supervisor and Gabriela de la Llana (delallana@wustl.edu).

Q: I am having issues with my technology/desk/facilities while working in person. What do I do?
A: We fully predict issues cropping up as you return to work, especially concerning technology equipment that has been used intermittently. Use the ServiceNow form to request IT-specific support for setting up your office. This “Return to Work” form is what you should use to request assistance getting your computer, monitors, and other technology items set up correctly in your office at Brown, Goldfarb, or Hillman. You are not required to use this form to let IT know you are returning to campus; this is intended to be an easy way to ask for IT help in setting up your office.

If you have further questions about technology needs and resources for yourself as you return to campus, please contact the IT Helpdesk at 314-933-3333 or ITHelp@wustl.edu.

Q: Do I have to physically distance?
A: Physical distancing requirements have been lifted on the Danforth Campus.

Q: How can we best protect members of our community who might be vaccinated but are also immuno-compromised and/or at greater risk for COVID-19?
A: Individuals who are at greater risk for COVID should coordinate with their supervisors and might be eligible to continue remote work. Any member of our community can request that students and/or colleagues mask in their presence without providing a personal explanation.
Resources and Facility Use

Q: Can I use the refrigerators?
A: The refrigerators are open for use. Remember to clear uneaten food by Friday of each week.

Q: Can I use the microwaves?
A: Microwaves are available for use. Remember to clean all areas after your meal – this includes microwaves, food preparation surfaces, and eating surfaces.

Q: Should I use EMS/ the reserve-a-room system?
A: You should continue to utilize this in a limited capacity for small in-person meetings and share all virtual external events.

Q: Are we still having campus events? Can students plan events/group meetings freely?
A: Per the 3/3 message from the Office of the Chancellor, meetings and events can take place on the Danforth Campus. Food and drink may be served. There are no limits on the size of gatherings. Safety protocols for Kemper Museum, Edison Theatre and 560 Music Center remain in effect. We continue to monitor conditions and adjust this guidance as the situation improves. Send student questions to Da'Shaun Scott, assistant director of student engagement (dashaun@wustl.edu).
