Position Description
This position will focus on cancer epidemiology and policy research, and is open to a MPH, MSW/MPH or MPH/MSP student. The student will be engaged in research related to the epidemiology of social determinants of cancer disparities, particularly pediatric and young adult cancer disparities.

Faculty Sponsorship
Kim Johnson, MPH, PhD

Skills and Qualifications
The student should have strong quantitative aptitude and an interest in epidemiology and biostatistics and/or health policy. The student should be prepared to report progress at biweekly meetings. The student should have familiarity with Microsoft excel, powerpoint, and experience or a strong interest in coding using statistical software.

Primary Responsibilities
- Literature reviews
- IRB applications
- Surveillance, Epidemiology, and End Results and other database training to generate cancer statistics
- Assistance with manuscript and grant writing
- Data analysis
- Other research-related activities as needed

Compensation & Benefits
$15.00/hour

Application Process
Students should submit a resume and a 100-250 word statement of interest to kijohnson@wustl.edu. The student should note any past data analysis experience.

Application Timeline: Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis.